

Bird Nest View: How your rights, possibilities

have been long and our etting full, a common tudents. To her inspi-
ver-the-top
on let me t final ex-
ing as you
our minds
thought of vision the se that Decem-
g.

who miss a final exam
illness, domestic afflic-
ous practices or other reasons may be allowed deferred final exam. Deis are written Dec. 19; Registrar as soon as pos-

perform below your capa-final exam you may applemental examination.
allowed to write two in c year. Supplemental extten Jan. 16. Again apply you know you will need plemental. Deadline is

Formal appeals need to be started (initiated) by students within five working days of the decision.

So for final exams, official marks are available until Dec. 24. The College is closed Dec. 25 until Jan.
4 so this gives you till Friday, Jan. 8, 2010 to start your formal appeal.

This shouldn't stop you from getting the ball rolling with an informal appeal. Most teachers will put up an unofficial mark on Blackboard before that time. So there is time to work things out, develop your position and think about your options. Any problems come see me, don't wait.

Avoid inspiration, check.

Avoid over the top, check.

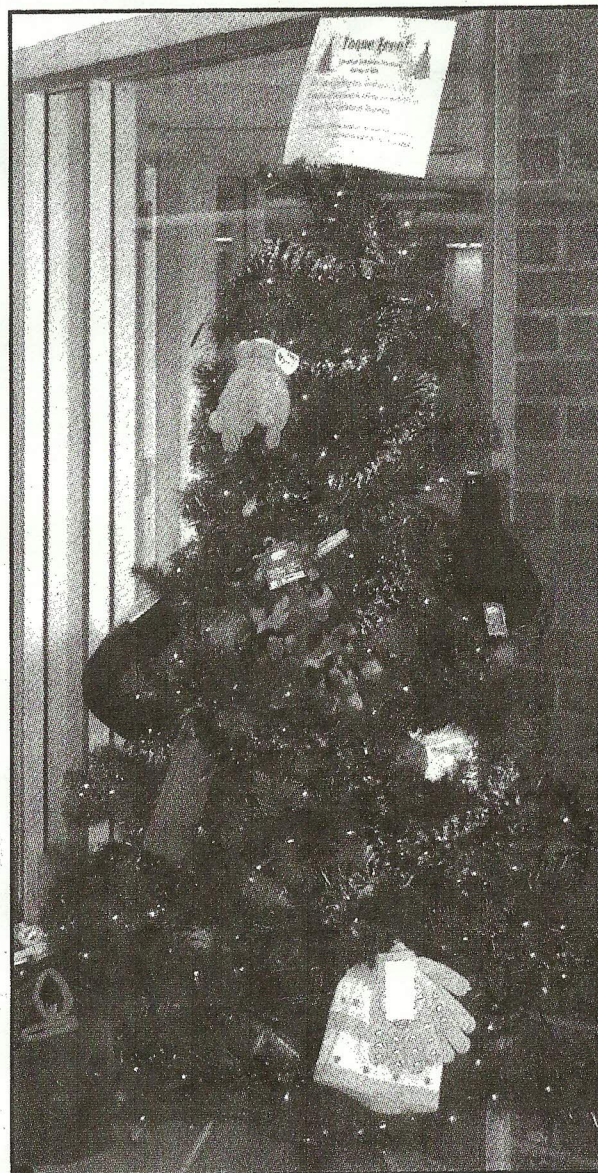

Avoid peppy, check.

Informative, achieved. Cold delivery, achieved.

A feathered theme, unattained.

A holiday spirit, developing.

Yours in the season of exams,
Dagen Bird
SA Academic VP

Toque Trees

The Canadian Red Cross
Student Group at RDC is collecting new and gently used toques, mitts and scarves on two Toque Trees, which can be found in the Forum and at the Library.
The collection is being done on behalf of the Red Deer Christmas Bureau, which distributes winter gear, along with Christmas
hampers to those in need.
(Bricklayer photo)

the vulnerabilities of a perfectionist